

From Two Clinics to a DSO Network

A Partnership Proposal for Dr. Víctor Dongo · Confidential · October 2026

You have already done the hardest part. You have a U.S. dental license, two established practices in Miami, a bilingual patient base, and a track record in one of the most competitive dental markets in the country. Most people building dental groups spend years and significant capital just to get to where you already are.

This proposal is about one thing: what happens if you stop growing incrementally — one clinic at a time, with your own capital — and instead formalize your operation as the foundation of a Dental Support Organization (DSO) with structured capital, an experienced operational partner, and a clear exit strategy?

The core proposition: Your two Miami clinics, your license, and your market presence are the most valuable assets in this project. The partnership brings capital, an operational leader with experience building dental networks, and a team to handle structure, investor relations, and expansion — so you can focus on clinical work while your equity multiplies.

1. What This Partnership Changes for You

Today — Two Independent Clinics	With the DSO Structure
Growth limited to personal capital and cash flow	Structured capital rounds to open 3–6 additional clinics
Eventual sale of 2 clinics: est. $1.5M – $3M total	Exit from a 5–8 clinic network: est. $16M – $60M total valuation
Administrative burden split between clinic and ownership	Central management handles HR, marketing, billing and purchasing
All operational risk on your shoulders	Risk shared across partners and investors
Purchasing power of 2 clinics	Purchasing power of a network — significant supplier leverage

2. Your Role in the Partnership

Clinical Director & Legal Principal (PC/PLLC)

As a U.S.-licensed dentist, you hold the position that the partnership cannot function without. Under U.S. law, dental practices must be owned or co-owned by a licensed dentist. Your license is what makes the entire legal structure valid. In recognition of this — and your existing two clinics — you are positioned as a Founding Partner with the highest tier of equity and decision-making authority on clinical matters.

Specifically, your contribution to the partnership includes:

- Your U.S. dental license — the legal foundation of the PC/PLLC structure
- Your two existing Miami clinics — the launch base of the network
- Clinical leadership and quality standards across all future locations
- Local Miami market knowledge and established patient relationships
- Credibility with any future dentist partners joining the network

What the partnership brings to you:

- Capital for expansion — without you taking on personal debt
- An operational director (Moisés) with proven experience building and managing dental networks — removes the management burden from your plate
- A promoter team that handles the DSO structure, investor relations, and public-facing partnerships
- A formal exit strategy with real valuation multiples — instead of a one-off clinic sale

3. How the Ownership Is Structured

The standard U.S. DSO legal framework operates in two layers:

- DSO / LLC (Management Company) — holds the investment, manages operations, marketing and purchasing. All partners and investors participate here. This is where the majority of the economic value sits.
- PC / PLLC (Professional Corporation) — the entity that legally owns the dental practice. Must have a licensed U.S. dentist as owner. Dr. Dongo holds this position, giving the entire structure its legal standing.

Partnership Tiers

Tier 1 — Founding Partners (Dr. Dongo + Promoter Team)

Highest equity stake. Dr. Dongo contributes his license, two existing clinics, and clinical leadership. The promoter team contributes capital, operational management and investor relations. Together, they hold majority ownership of the DSO/LLC.

Tier 2 — Dentist Partners (Operator Partners)

Additional dentists who join as clinical leads at new clinics, contributing capital or clinical commitment in exchange for 5%–15% equity per clinic.

Tier 3 — Passive Investors (Limited Partners)

Capital contributors with no operational role. They receive preferred returns and a share of the exit proceeds.

4. The Exit — Why the Network Model Pays More

A dentist who sells two well-run Miami practices independently can expect to receive approximately 60%–80% of one year's collections per practice — typically $700K–$1.2M per clinic, or $1.5M–$2.5M total, after years of effort and personal financial risk.

The DSO model produces fundamentally different outcomes at the time of sale:

Sale Scenario	Network Valuation	Founding Partner Stake (est. 30%)
Year 3–4, 4–5 clinics	$12M – $20M	$3.6M – $6M
Year 5, 6–8 clinics	$25M – $50M	$7.5M – $15M
Strategic sale or private equity	$40M – $80M+	$12M – $24M+

DSO valuations range from 6x to 12x EBITDA. A network of 5 well-run bilingual clinics in the Miami–South Florida market — with an established Hispanic patient base — is exactly the kind of asset that large DSOs and private equity funds pay premium multiples to acquire. Your two existing clinics are not just the starting point. They are a core part of what makes the network valuable at exit.

5. Why Miami Is the Right Market to Start

- 2.7 million people in Miami-Dade County, with over 70% identifying as Hispanic or Latino
- Among the highest concentrations of Venezuelan, Cuban, Colombian, and Peruvian communities in the U.S.
- Strong insurance penetration and growing Medicaid dental coverage
- Tourism and seasonal population adds demand beyond the permanent base
- A DSO with bilingual staff and Latin-rooted clinical leadership has an immediate trust advantage that generic chains cannot replicate

Your two existing clinics are already in this market. The foundation is not hypothetical — it exists today.

6. Formalizing the Partnership

Given that a letter of intent between Dr. Dongo and the promoter group is already in place, the proposed path forward is:

Step 1 — Partnership Structure Meeting

Align on equity splits, Dr. Dongo's role as Tier 1 Founding Partner, and the formal valuation of the two existing Miami clinics as contributed assets.

Step 2 — Legal Formation (Month 1–2)

Engage a U.S. attorney specializing in dental DSO structures to draft the LLC operating agreement and the PC/PLLC documents. Define the Management Services Agreement between the DSO and the professional corporation.

Step 3 — First Capital Round (Month 3–4)

Formalize contributions from founding partners and close the first external investor commitments. Use capital to begin preparation for the third and fourth clinic locations.

Step 4 — Third Clinic Opening (Month 6–12)

Select location, negotiate lease, build out and staff the third clinic — leveraging the existing patient base, supplier relationships, and brand from the two Miami locations.

The partnership is already agreed in principle. This document serves as the basis for formalizing that agreement into a legal and operational structure. The goal is to move quickly — the market conditions and the team are aligned.

This proposal was prepared for discussion purposes. Financial projections are directional estimates based on public U.S. DSO sector benchmarks. Equity percentages and compensation are illustrative and subject to negotiation between the partners. Specialized legal and financial counsel is required before formal commitments are made.
